1.0 Background

The Lesotho Mounted Police Services (LMPS) collects raw data on all cases of crime from all the Police Stations throughout the country and compile it according to districts. The raw data is then forwarded to the Bureau of Statistics (BOS) to be compiled, tabulated and analysed and a yearly crime statistics report is produced. This report mainly focuses on crime cases reported from the 1st January to 31st December 2015 and not consider any actions taken thereafter.

The LMPS classified all the reported cases into two main groups, namely, serious and general cases. In 2015, the reported Serious Cases of Crime comprises of Armed Robbery, Assault GBH (Assault with intend to cause grievous bodily harm), Attempted Murder, Car Theft, Fraud, House Breaking, Human Trafficking, Murder, Robbery, Sexual Offence, Stock Theft and Stock Robbery, whilst the reported General Cases of Crime comprises of Abduction, Arms & Ammunition, Assault Common, Child Protection, Concealment of Childbirth, Culpable Homicide, Habit Drugs, Internal Security, Liquor Offence, Malicious Damage, Road Traffic Accident, Theft By False Pretence, Theft Common, Theft From Car, Traffic Offences Unlawful Possession of Stock, and Others.

Unlike other statistical reports produced by the BOS, data on crime is not classified by age, sex and socio-economic categories because it deals with cases of crime reported not with person directly involved.
